NEFA's creative economy work supports the creative sector and creative placemaking by highlighting the rich cultural activity of New England, quantifying its impact, connecting its leaders, and providing opportunities for anyone across the U.S. to apply research frameworks or New England model projects locally.

Research & Data

NEFA has a 30+ year history of providing arts organizations with data-driven research to be used for advocacy and to strengthen and inform local, statewide, and regional efforts to build New England's creative economy. NEFA research models, network resources, and online tools can be used by anyone in the U.S. to quantify and develop their own creative community.

Online Tools

NEFA has developed the only regional tools in the U.S. to easily spotlight and understand the cultural nonprofits, creative businesses, artists, and creative placemaking initiatives of the creative economy. CreativeGround, NEFA's new online tool, spotlights the rich range of creative people and places at work in the six New England states.

Meetings and Events

NEFA gathers creative community catalysts at events such as Creative Communities Exchange and Creative Economy Network meetings to share resources, ideas, practical information, and actionable tools that can be executed in their own communities.

ABOUT NEFA

NEFA builds connections among artists, arts organizations, and funders, powering the arts to energize communities in New England, the nation, and the world. NEFA is a 501 (c) (3) that operates in partnership with the National Endowment for the Arts and the New England state arts agencies, with additional funding from corporations, foundations and individuals.

NEFA administers grantmaking programs that support the performing arts, public art, and Native American artists. NEFA also leads projects and initiatives that range from the analysis of the impact of the creative economy to the creation of online tools which link and advance the regional, national, and international cultural community.
